WELCOME TO THE LAND OF DAWN-LIT MOUNTAIN

NYISHI AND THEIR FOLKLORE:

Nyi refers to 'a man'
Shi denotes 'a being', means a human being.

They were earlier known as chunggi or daflas

Believe on "Donyi-Polo" means "Sun-Moon"

Myth of the Mountain- Tai Bida

Nyokum festival

Traditional helmets surmounted by the crest of a hornbill beak (known as pudum, padam)

NYISHI IN CYBERSPACE :

- ◉ The story of Bida went on to different places and it was once a very famous talk in villages. But now most of our brothers in modernizing places don't even have a clue of it. It is a request to all the brother and sisters of Arunachal Pradesh to keep our identity and our culture. Let's go along with the developing world but also carrying along the culture and identities and also the most precious thing about us -who we are.

very interesting story by Khoda Taj

Ancient Folktales Of NYISHI

It is a tale from my Grandfathers that he Told me when i was a Kid.
During Ancient period
when Arunachal wasn't connected with Modern Civilization
It happen in a Small Village
where my Grandfather belong, that a Farmer lived alone from the rest of the villagers as He was Cultivating a Paddy Field,
In the Deepest Part of the Forest and it was Nearly a Mile from the Village.
He built a Small Home
with Bamboo and Woods
with a Small Fire place,
This far

😊 cool

NYISHI WORLD:

Internet has created a more liberal space for the society. People can express themselves, exercise their agency and create identity easily on internet. They can also save their culture and tradition through online. In the digital realm becoming online is a new culture.
